Interdisciplinary Seminar Series

WAR CRIMES
Trials & Investigations

Location:
The Oxford Research Centre in the Humanities (TORCH)
Radcliffe Humanities Building, Woodstock Road
Seminar Room

Hilary Term 2015
Wednesdays, 5pm

Week 1 (Wed 21 January)
Leila Ullrich (U of Oxford)
Challenging the Global-Local Divide: Local Intermediaries, Victims and the Justice Politics of the International Criminal Court (ICC)

Week 2 (Wed 28 January)
Jan Lemnitzer (U of Oxford)
From ‘Atrocity’ to ‘War Crimes’: The 19th Century Origins of Modern War Crime Tribunals

Week 3 (Wed 4 February)
Kerstin von Lingen (Heidelberg U, Germany)
Legal Flows and Travelling Lawyers: Debating a Global War Crimes Trials Policy in Europe and Asia during the Second World War

Week 4 (Wed 11 February)
Brian Orend (U of Waterloo, Canada)
The Next Geneva Convention: Morality, Law, and The Limits of Post-War Rehabilitation

Week 5 (Wed 18 February)
Annette Weinke (Friedrich Schiller U, Jena, Germany)
Theoretical and Ideological Underpinnings of War Crimes Investigations in Postwar Germany.
Week 6 (Wed 25 February)

Andreas Hilger (Independent Commission on the History of the German Intelligence Service)

Crime and Punishment? German crimes and Stalin’s justice during and after World War II

Week 7 (Wed 4 March)

Nikita Petrov (Memorial, Russia)

A Matter of Justice or a Political Show? Soviet Show Trials Against German POWs in 1943

Week 8 (Wed 11 March)

Tim Thompson (Teesside U)

Do Anthropologists Give the Dead a Voice, Or Are They Just Ventriloquists...?

Conveners: Jonathan Waterlow, Jacques Schuhmacher

This seminar series is supported by TORCH and the John Fell Fund.

For further information: http://www.torch.ox.ac.uk/warcrimes